Sen. Vandenberg Seeks Check-Up On Aid Demands

Asks 'Total Balance Sheet' Of America's Ability To Meet World Aid Demands

PROMPT ACTION ASKED OF TRUMAN

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., put President Truman on notice today that America's planning for world rehabilitation must 'promptly' be placed on a bi-partisan basis outside the White House and Congress.

The GOP foreign policy leader's statement was regarded in some quarters as a declaration of the prerequisites to continue support on Capitol Hill.

Vandenberg's proposals, Vandenberg, president of the Senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee, called for:

1. A "total balance sheet" of America's ability to meet the needs of war-ravaged Europe and Asia, apart from "direct relief."
2. The "prompt" creation of a special bi-partisan advisory council "at the highest attainable level" to advise "both the executive and the Congress."

Vandenberg's statement coincided with Mr. Truman's return to Washington from Canada. It was submitted to GOP leaders in advance and won approval of other leading Republican Senators.

View Needed Presentation
Sen. Ball (R) Minn. said the view expressed by Vandenberg "badly needed saying." He stressed the importance of the United States appraising the supply of "raw materials we are now burning up."

Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., Senate appropriations chairman, said he agreed that "we must take into account the overall picture—both as to the needs of Europe and our ability to fulfill them."

Pa Newc Observes

If you should happen to see shining lights skimming along the ground tonight, don't be alarmed and call the police, it is probably the next door neighbor hunting for night crawlers to use as bait for his fishing trips.

A lift-off was seen strapped on the top of an automobile on South Mill street today. Evidently a fishing trip was planned by the owner.

Small radio stations are the hobby of quite a few young men here since the government has lifted restrictions.

Residents of West Washington street, from Sankey street to the city line are eager to have their street resurfaced, eliminating the old street car tracks. Driving over the street sometimes causes the automobile wheels to slide throwing the vehicle out into the middle of the street, creating a dangerous traffic hazard. Extending the blacktop out of the city lines would improve the road and eliminate the car tracks without removing them. Car tracks on the west side are all remaining in the city, not removed or covered, it is pointed out.

In case it has slipped your mind, Sunday is being observed as "Father's Day."

Clair Robinson of Ellwood City road, employed by the Day Tree Company, reports that while cutting down a large white oak tree located beyond Mt. President To Act On Tax Bill On Monday

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—President Truman will veto the four billion dollar tax bill Monday.

The tax measure and the labor bill confronted the chief executive as he returned to his desk after a three-day goodwill visit to Canada.

Mr. Truman has until midnight Monday to act on the tax measure and until midnight next Friday to act on the equally controversial labor curbing bill.

The president indicated last night as he left his special train at union station to return to the White House that he will announce his tax decision Monday. He gave no indication of his decision but presidential intimates are certain that Mr. Truman will veto the Republican-sponsored bill.

A veto of the labor measure was a possibility but some economic advisers to Mr. Truman expressed belief that he will allow this bill to become law.

After acting on the tax measure Monday, Mr. Truman goes to Princeton university Tuesday where he will receive an honorary degree. He returns to Washington the following day.

The chief executive issued a special statement to the Italian people, separate from any comment on the treaties.

A separate statement on Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria—now in the Soviet Russian sphere of influence—was to be issued by the White House later today.

Four Are Given Lie-Detector Test In Atlanta Case

(BULLETIN)
ATLANTA, Ga., June 14.—(INS)—Fulton County Police Chief G. Neal Ellis said today he had ordered the arrest of Paul Refoule, French-born artist, whose socialite wife, Mrs. Margaret Refoule, was slain last month.

Ellis said his warrant for Refoule's arrest was on a morals charge.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 14.—(INS)—Fulton county authorities today awaited the outcome of a lie-detector test given Paul Refoule, husband of Mrs. Margaret Refoule, who was slain May 14, and three other persons.

The tests were conducted by a specialist with equipment flown to Atlanta from Tampa, Fla.

Authorities refused to identify the others who underwent the tests except to say they were a young woman artist-model and a male and female art student.

Takes Test Willingly
County Police Chief G. Neal Ellis said that Refoule, French-born art instructor at the Atlanta High Museum of Art, had submitted willingly to the tests.

Refoule was asked to take the test at the Atlanta municipal airport yesterday afternoon a short time after his parents, Judge and Mrs. Robert Refoule, had arrived via plane from their home in Orleans, France.

All Who Served In Nagy Regime Being Removed

By EMIL LOEBEL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

VIENNA, July 14.—Hungarian Communists today swept out of the vital foreign ministry every civil servant who had served in the former regime of ousted Premier Ferenc Nagy.

A reorganization of the foreign service was reported to be in progress under the supervision of a Prof. Szekfue, regarded by Hungarian emigre circles as a "Soviet trustee."

Szekfue, present Hungarian minister to Russia, recently was recalled from Moscow for the task and is expected to take over direction of Hungary's foreign relations.

Szekfue, a prominent political historian, also is president of the Russian-Hungarian society for promotion of cultural relations between the two countries.

A former high Hungarian official predicted the removal of all career diplomats from Hungary's foreign service.

Rebuff To Bulgaria Considered By U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 14.—The United Nations is considering a sharp rebuff to Bulgaria today after receiving bitter complaints from its subsidiary Balkan investigating group that the Soviet satellite seems bent on undermining U. N. authority.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie disclosed the subsidiary body's report on Bulgarian refusal to permit crossing of her borders for investigation of a recent incident on the northern Greek frontier had been turned over to the Balkan commission.

Latest Defiance
The latter, now assembled at Lake Success for the consideration of its report on Greek border strife, will place the latest act of defiance by a Balkan country before the Security Council proper.

Security Council delegates recalled that in reaffirming the subsidiary group's validity last month, the 11-nation body warned Yugoslavia.

St. Louis Strike Continues To Tie Up Traffic

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—(INS)—Some hope was held today for an early strike settlement as paralysis of St. Louis' public transit system extended into a second day.

Mayor Aloys Kaufmann expressed belief that the strike of streetcar and bus operators might be settled this afternoon when union and Public Service Company representatives were scheduled to meet.

Following a three and a half hour meeting yesterday, Kaufmann said: "I am neither optimistic or pessimistic. But I feel that a settlement is possible."

Thousands of workers were again forced to hike to their jobs. The heavy influx of automobiles into the downtown area yesterday caused numerous traffic jams.

"I'm ready," said the candidate, "to heed the people's call, and I will serve them faithfully down there in City Hall, or in the court house I will serve wherever they decide, for who am I?" he asked me, "to run away and hide when duty calls in strident tones and people say I must, so I will make the sacrifice and win the race or bust." I looked him squarely in the eye, said I, "And what of pay?" He laughed and said, "I thought of that.—It's seventy-one today."

Sen. Vandenberg Seeks Check-Up On Aid Demands

Asks 'Total Balance Sheet'
Of America's Ability To Meet World Aid
Demands

PROMPT ACTION ASKED OF TRUMAN

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., put President Truman on notice today that America's planning for world rehabilitation must 'promptly' be placed on a bi-partisan basis outside the White House and Congress.

The GOP foreign policy leader's statement was regarded in some quarters as a declaration of the prerequisites to continue support on Capitol Hill.

Vandenberg's Proposals

Vandenberg, president of the Senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee, called for:

1. A "total balance sheet" of America's ability to meet the needs of war-ravaged Europe and Asia, apart from "direct relief."
2. The "prompt" creation of a special bi-partisan advisory council "at the highest attainable level" to advise "both the executive and the Congress."

Vandenberg's statement coincided with Mr. Truman's return to Washington from Canada. It was submitted to GOP leaders in advance and won approval of other leading Republican Senators.

View Needed—Presentation

Sen. Ball (R) Minn. said the view expressed by Vandenberg "badly needed saying." He stressed the importance of the United States appraising the supply of "raw materials" we are now burning up.

Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., Senate appropriations chairman, said he agreed that "we must take into account the overall picture—both as to the needs of Europe and our ability to fulfill them."

Pa Newc Observes

If you should happen to see shining lights skimming along the ground tonight, don't be alarmed and call the police. It is probably the next door neighbor hunting for nightjarers to use as bait for his fishing trips.

A life raft was seen strapped on the top of an automobile on South Mill street today. Evidently a fishing trip was planned by the owner.

Small radio stations are the hobby of quite a few young men here since the government has lifted restrictions.

Residents of West Washington street, from Sankey street to the city line are eager to have their street resurfaced, eliminating the old street tracks. Driving over the street sometimes causes the automobile wheels to slide throwing the street, creating a dangerous traffic hazard. Extending the blacktop out of the city lines would improve the road and eliminate the car tracks without removing them. Car tracks on the west side are all remaining in the city, not removed or covered, it is pointed out.

In case it has slipped your mind, Sunday is being observed as "Father's Day."

Clair Robinson of Ellwood City road, employed by the Davy Tree Company, reports that while cutting down a large oak tree located beyond Mt. President To Act On Tax Bill On Monday

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—President Truman will veto the four billion dollar tax bill Monday.

The tax measure and the labor bill confronted the chief executive as he returned to his desk after a three-day goodwill visit to Canada.

Mr. Truman has until midnight Monday to act on the tax measure and until midnight next Friday to act on the equally controversial labor curbing bill.

The president indicated last night as he left his special train at union station to return to the White House that he will announce his tax decision Monday. He gave no indication of his decision but presidential intimates are certain that Mr. Truman will veto the Republican-sponsored bill.

A veto of the labor measure was a possibility but some economic advisers to Mr. Truman expressed belief that he will allow this bill to become law.

After acting on the tax measure Monday, Mr. Truman goes to Princeton university Tuesday where he will receive an honorary degree. He returns to Washington the following day.

Truman Signs Peace Treaties

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—President Truman today signed the so-called satellite treaties of peace with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria with a pledge voiced to Italy "to work with them in our common efforts to rebuild and to restore a free world at peace."

The chief executive issued a special statement to the Italian people, separate from any comment on the treaties.

A separate statement on Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria—now in the Soviet Russian sphere of influence—was to be issued by the White House later today.

Four Are Given Lie-Detector Test In Atlanta Case

(BULLETIN)

ATLANTA, Ga., June 14.—(INS)—Fulton County Police Chief G. Neal Ellis said today he had ordered the arrest of Paul Refoule, French-born artist, whose socialistic wife, Mrs. Margaret Refoule, was slain last May 14, and three other persons.

Ellis said his warrant for Refoule's arrest was on a morals charge.

The tests were conducted by a specialist with equipment flown to Atlanta from Tampa, Fla.

Authorities refused to identify the others who underwent the tests except to say they were a young woman, an artist-model and a male and female art student.

Takes Test Willingly

County Police Chief G. Neal Ellis said this Refoule, French-born art instructor at the Atlanta High Museum of Art, had submitted willingly to the tests.

Refoule was asked to take the test at the Atlanta municipal airport yesterday afternoon a short time after his parents, Judge and Mrs. Robert Refoule, had arrived via plane from their home in Orleans, France.

Nagy Enroute To New York

(BULLETIN)

SHANNON, Eire, June 14.—(INS)—Ex-Premier Ferenc Nagy of Hungary charged today that the communist coup in Hungary was "artificially stimulated" as a direct result of the American "stop-communism" program of aid to Greece and Turkey.

Nagy, who was ousted from office on Soviet charges that he was implicated in a conspiracy against the government, assailed the communists' tactics soon after he arrived at Shannon en route to the United States.

After a short stop-over, the plane carrying Nagy and his family to New York from Geneva left Shannon for its next stop—Gander, Newfoundland.

All Who Served In Nagy Regime Being Removed

By EMIL LOEBEL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

VIENNA, June 14.—Hungarian Communists today swept out of the vital foreign ministry every civil servant who had served in the former regime of ousted Premier Ferenc Nagy.

A reorganization of the foreign service was reported to be in progress under the supervision of a Prof. Szekfue, regarded by Hungarian emigre circles as a "Soviet trustee."

Szekfue, present Hungarian minister to Russia, recently was recalled from Moscow for the task and is expected himself to take over direction of Hungary's foreign relations.

Szekfue, a prominent political historian, also is president of the Russian-Hungarian society for promotion of cultural relations between the two countries.

A former high Hungarian official predicted the removal of all career diplomats from Hungary's foreign service.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 14.—The United Nations is considering a sharp rebuff to Bulgaria today after receiving bitter complaints from its subsidiary Balkan investigating group that the Soviet satellite seems bent on undermining U. N. authority.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie disclosed the subsidiary body's report on Bulgarian refusal to permit crossing of her borders for investigation of a recent incident on the northern Greek frontier had been turned over to the Balkan commission.

Latest Defiance
The latter, now assembled at Lake Success for the consideration of its report on Greek border strife, will place the latest act of defiance by a Balkan country before the Security Council proper.

Security Council delegates recalled that in reaffirming the subsidiary group's validity last month, the 11-nation body warned Yugoslavia.

(BULLETIN)

LEESBURG, Va., June 14.—(INS)—Blinding rain today handicapped emergency workers struggling to reach the wreckage of a Capital Airlines DC-4 which crashed on a Blue Ridge mountainside killing all 50 persons aboard.

Earlier reports that rescue workers had reached the wreck scene proved erroneous, as a result of garbled radio communications.

U. S. Plans Firm Stand Against Possible Loss To American Property Owners

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The United States today planned to take a firm stand against any possible loss to American property owners in European states threatened with communistic nationalization of property.

Threat Increased
This threat has increased since Russia has expanded its aggressive extension of communist influences into nearby countries. It is expected to extend as the Russian endorsed drive is carried into other lands now on the Soviet fringes.

Emphasis was given to this phase of State department activities Friday when it revealed that strenuous views have been submitted to the Romanian government over nationalization decrees which a government ministry has been empowered to issue.

These decrees would cover controls of production, distribution, foreign and domestic trade, prices, credits.

See Nationalization
The State department believes that the decrees as worded by the Romanian parliament would result in the nationalization of property without just compensation. The United States is concerned because American capital to the extent of 35 million dollars is concerned.

The American investment generally is concentrated in the Ploesti oil fields and refineries, badly damaged by bombing.

Unique Display Of Pipes Holds Public Interest

Antiques And Hand-Carved Originals At Winter Company Unusual Exhibit

One of the most unusual displays of pipes ever shown in this district is arresting the glances of passers-by in the downtown business district.

The exhibit is being shown in the window of the Winter company on East Washington street and has been collected and produced by the Marxman Pipe company.

The Marxman originals, all carved from aged Algerian briar burls, are the work of such famous sculptors as Jo Davidson, Cecil Howard, G. A. Griffin, Charles Kopp and others. It is the aim of the exhibit to bring back the art of fine pipe-making and offer "heirlooms of the future" to smokers.

The world-wide rare pipe showing is part of the Leon Outler collection. These range from the most primitive African pipe made of black stone to fine Swiss and German Meerschaums. There are also fine products of horn and porcelain from Italy, Russia and the central European countries.

in Congress with the administration's "liaison" on foreign policy planning. One Democrat disclosed several days ago that his problem would be taken up with President Truman upon his return from Canada.

May Cost 24 Billion

On the heels of this, Benjamin Cohen, adviser to Secretary of State Marshall, made public his estimate that European rehabilitation might involve twenty four billion dollars over a four-year period.

Vandenberg recognized that "intelligent American self-interest" calls for meeting the problem with "vision and courage" but said it likewise demands "a sound, over-all inventory of our own resources to determine the latitudes within which we may consider these foreign needs."

He said:
"This comes first because if America ever sags, the world's hopes sag with her."

Washington Calling

Soviet May Soon Have Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Within 6 to 18 months our newspapers will blossom with large black headlines on this order:

Soviets say they have atom bomb. That is the growing belief of those whose duty it is to follow the course of atomic development here and abroad. This is the weight of information in confidential files. It is also confirmed by almost everything that happens before the public gaze. Andrei Gromyko's latest statement on atomic control must be taken as a bit of evidence pointing in that direction. There is nothing new in what Gromyko said. He gives every evidence of desiring to filibuster in order to delay a final decision by the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Close To Approval
At one point in the year-long debate, Gromyko came close to approving the Acheson-Lilienthal-Baruch proposal for an international inspection authority with final control over atomic energy development. Then, six months later, he seemed to shut the door on the kind of international inspection essential in any real system of control.

This third and latest position is roughly halfway between the other two. It seems to declare for inspection. But when the statement is closely examined, the inspection is seen to be so limited and circumscribed as to be more or less meaningless. The statement is full of loopholes big enough to drop an atom bomb through. Paragraph B of Section 7 says:

"Signatory states to the convention of the prohibition of atomic weapons must have a right to carry on unrestricted scientific research activities in the field of atomic energy directed toward discovery of methods of its use for peaceful purposes."

A fine declaration of noble intention which, in the present condition of the world, no nation would accept. The Gromyko statement clings to sovereignty over the atom. The Acheson-Lilienthal-Baruch proposal went a fairly long way toward surrendering national sovereignty in this connection. Many have said that it represented the beginning of a world state. Or, at any rate, the American plan was the first timber in the foundation of genuine world government.

Newest Tactics
The newest Gromyko tactic brings us nearer a fearful deadline. Members of the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission have talked about ending their discussion on September 1. That is not a fixed date, but the feeling is growing that the debate now serves no purpose except delay.

After September 1, there will be an effort to get agreement on a final report by the commission containing recommendation to be submitted to the U. N. Security Council. A majority and a minority report, with the split along the customary line, would seem to be a certainty.

No tyrant might shall drag thee down.
No whispering voice stain thy renown.

Flag in the blood of heroes signed.
Banner of hope for all mankind.
Riding the winds on land and sea,
Bright emblem of man's liberty,
No tyrant could, no cunning spy,
Shall ever tear thee from the sky!

Our flag! The flag of all that's best;
Hope of the weary and distressed;
Staffed at all altars where we pray;

Never shall shame dishonor thee.

Public Wants A "Governor"

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLEDGING ALLEGIANCE TO FLAG

In times of peace most of the men's service clubs have always kept alive some patriotic practice at honoring the flag, the symbol of our republic.

During the war the public schools and P.T.A.'s at their public assemblies and meetings gave the "pledge of allegiance." But soon after V-J Day such patriotic practices were often missing from the P.T.A. meetings and sometimes from school assemblies. I speak from personal observations made in hundreds of places in many states throughout the nation. Though I have not been traveling so much in recent months, I hazard the guess that the flag salute at school is still on the wane.

Salute The Flag
It has always seemed to me that in times of peace it is even more desirable to salute the flag than during times of war. Don't we want our children to associate the symbol of our country with peace rather than war?

A few years after the first World War I often heard fellow speakers (who actually were college or university professors of education) at teachers' conventions poke fun at having school children pledge allegiance to the flag. Often the reason given was that most children didn't (Continued on Page Seven)

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

I like flowers. I like dogs. I like birds. I like music.

But frankly, I am not particularly fond of poetry.

It always seems to me that most poets are more concerned about meter and rhyme than about thoughts and, furthermore, most of the poets I have met are just a little bit on the nutty side.

I can't vouch for Keats or Shelley or Walt Whitman, of course, because I have never met them. But, from what I have read about them, I doubt whether I would have wanted them as week-end guests in my house, particularly because my wife is very fussy who uses her new powder room—about which I have told you a lot, and about which I have received several hundred letters.

However, I am going to let you see a little poem that my new secretary wrote. (My other one got married, as I told you.)

Her name, if you must know, is Dorothea Baldimette, a name most too long to pronounce, so I call her "Pete" for short.

This poem of hers will never go down in history. You can probably write as good a poem as she. (She can think as well as she. (She knows the proverb about the new broom.)

So, here is her poem. She calls it "What Counts". It's not the big things in this world. Although it often seems. That are the largest beams. And shed the brightest things. It is the small, unselfish things. That are worth struggling for. A kindly deed at the door. A welcome to the poor. It is not fame or power. Or riches we possess.

That tends a sorely aching heart. Or fosters happiness; For one grows cold with growth of gold. And, though he's not aware. His heart once warm, gay and sincere.

Now has but coldness there. Although one may have a little. But always shares a part. That part will bring a prayer To everybody's heart.

That's all, I think she's got something there. Don't you? Maybe you'll want to paste it in your scrapbook. (Copyright, 1947, Kate Frautiger Syndicate, Inc.)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Today is Flag Day . . . pay tribute . . . tomorrow is Father's Day . . . be happy.

"PALS"
A man should be more than a Father to his Son. He should likewise be his pal; I speak from experience, for we have one Who's name is Alvin, but we call him Al.

You should start at the cradle when he's a wee tot, You may say he's too young to understand; But remember, kindness can never be bought, He will soon reach out to take you by the hand.

Don't refuse to answer the many questions he will ask, No doubt you did the same when you were young; I'll admit there are times when it is quite a task. The only way to stop him, would be hold his tongue.

That would be cruel you wouldn't think of doing that, For he's just a chip off the old block. Day after day, he keeps trying on your hat. And he even tries to imitate your walk.

Spend much time with him, every day of your life To teach him the right from the wrong; Do all you can with aid of your wife To bring him up healthy and strong.

You should take him to Sunday School when just a small lad, Where they teach them to be honest and true; For remember, he wants to be just like his Dad, And his future depends upon you.

Soon he grows older and starts out to school, As all normal children have to do; One thing he will learn is the golden rule. Do unto others as you'd have them do unto you.

It is then he will start to take an interest in life, An education will be his one aim; He will learn much about hardship and strife As he travels along the pathway to fame.

If he is fortunate and becomes successful in life, He will thank God for the training he had; He will search for a girl just like mother for a wife, And he will always respect his Old Dad.

—John Weyer

State Police Say:—

So you had the right of way! Many motorists will fight for the right of way regardless of consequences, and of course many of them never live to learn the results of the encounter. If there is a question of an accident, yield the right of way. Being right won't pay the doctor bills if you are hit, and there's little comfort in knowing it was the other fellow's fault.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE FOR DEWEY

It is refreshing to know that Governor Dewey of New York recently signed an Act of his own initiative which prohibits strikes of public employees within the State of New York.

Included in the prohibition are school teachers, policemen, firemen and local transportation employees. It includes all employees of surface transportation, the underground and elevated trains.

The basis of this act—the prime cause for its being put on the statute books of the State of New York—is that strikes of any persons within the categories mentioned are strikes against the public, interrupting the proper functioning of government. There are several other categories that might be mentioned and proper legislation enacted by the different States if the Congress of the United States won't do it. There are the employees of the water systems, and those who operate the gas works and the gas lines and the electric power lighting plants, as well as the wires distributing electricity within the State. There is the street cleaning and the disposing of garbage in the cities. Employees engaged in all of these activities should be prohibited from striking. There should be ways, of course, open to all employees to ask for and obtain, if deserving, pay adequate for the work performed. The subject of public employees is one that calls for attention, as it involves the public health and safety.

Have No Right To Strike

Strikes by organizations of individuals who enter public employment in any responsible capacity are a part of the government and such workmen have no right to strike against the government. Such a strike is analogous to a mutiny in the armed forces, and punishment for any revolution in the armed forces is death.

Persons who are unwilling to forego the right to strike have no right to enter public employment. Whatever happens to the Act at present in the making in the Congress of the United States, designed to cure some of our labor troubles—whether the bill is approved or disapproved by the President—when this Act is sent to the President, the President of the country should tell the people exactly what it contains in a story, without any assertion as to whether this or that is wise or not.

Good Taste

Question: Should a maid or her employer supply the former's uniforms? (2) Is it proper to deduct from a servant's salary the cost of any dishes she may have accidentally broken?

Answer: In most houses, both uniforms and aprons are supplied by the employer. If you want to kiss your maid goodbye forever, just start charging her for broken china. Either dismiss her or give her less responsible work if she continues to break your valuables.

Question: How long should guests remain after dinner?

Answer: At informal dinners, guests remain from one and a half to two hours after leaving the table. At formal dinners (which usually begin about eight o'clock) the guests remain until about eleven o'clock.

Question: At what age should a child be taught the proper manner of holding his spoon and fork and discouraged in the baby-fashion grip?

Answer: As soon as his hands are capable, he should be instructed in the proper manner of holding his silver. There is no age limit. The baby grip should be discouraged as early as possible.

Question: (1) When a girl is going to visit a young man's family should she write and ask his mother if it is convenient to come or do son on his invitation? (2) Should I bring her a gift?

Answer: (1) The young man should ask his mother to write to her and extend an invitation. She really should not go on his invitation alone. (2) Either bring a small gift along or send her one after you return home. Suggestions: A bottle of toilet water, two handkerchiefs or a box of candy.

Present your problems to Miss Markee who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

Bipartisan Policy Again In Danger?

WASHINGTON, June 14.—If the bipartisan foreign policy, so essential to the effectiveness of this nation in international affairs, continues healthy, it will be a rather striking refutation of the diagnosis of various journalistic doctors of more or less renown who specialize in the global field. For hardly a week goes by that one or the other of these erudite experts does not burst forth with a solemn warning that the policy of bipartisan cooperation is about to bog down.

FOR example, a short time ago, the reason given was that President Truman and Secretary Marshall had not "consulted" Senator Vandenberg in advance of the announcement of certain State Department policies and also that Secretary Marshall had not been able to establish quite the same kind of "cordiality" in his personal relationships as his predecessor, the exceedingly affable Mr. James F. Byrnes. The unfattering inference was inescapable that unintelligence and ineptitude existed on the one side and a certain smallness, plus a lack of conviction, on the other.

IT is pleasant to note that this theory has now been dropped and the information is now presented that Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg are on terms of "friendly intimacy," conferring informally at frequent intervals in the privacy of each other's homes. This "situation," never well based though its publicity was wide, must have both annoyed and amused the Secretary and the Senator. In any event, that peril to the bipartisan foreign policy appears to have passed. Nothing has been heard of it for two weeks and more.

BUT a new "danger" has arisen. This time it is not the personal cordiality between Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg that threatens collapse. This time it is the personal cordiality between President Truman and Senator Robert Taft. Some days ago Mr. Truman in a public statement assailed Mr. Taft's domestic economic policies and Senator Taft made a sharp reply in which he asserted the President had misquoted him. Certainly this shows a lack of "personal cordiality" between the two men, but what has that to do with the bipartisan foreign policy? We are told that it makes very much less probable Senator Taft's support of the new Marshall co-ordinated plan for European reconstruction—a plan so big and broad as probably to involve grants of something like five billions a year. This plan, of course, has to be ratified by Congress, and a special session in the fall is advocated for that purpose. In foreign affairs, up to this time, Senator Taft has more or less accepted Senator Vandenberg's leadership and Senator Vandenberg, in turn, has co-operated with Senator Taft in domestic policies.

NOW, it is held, President Truman has committed a grave blunder in spoiling a "cordial personal relationship" with Mr. Taft, thus breaking up the bipartisan co-operation on international matters at the moment when it is most vital. This may turn out to be true, but there are one or two things that should qualify its too ready acceptance. In the first place, the "cordial personal relationship" between Mr. Truman and Mr. Taft was not spoiled by the Truman attack because no "cordial personal relationship" existed to spoil.

THE Truman attack of last week was not the first time he has been critical of Senator Taft, and the Taft reply was not the first in which the Senator has been critical of Mr. Truman. Perhaps, Senator Taft will not support the Marshall plan for co-ordinated reconstruction next fall. But his opposition will not be because of personal hostility to Mr. Truman. To assume that, is to assume that Senator Taft is a small man who shifts his convictions on the gravest issues because of personal dislikes or prejudices. That is not the kind of man Senator Taft is. And that is not the kind of man Senator Vandenberg is.

IT IS not far from insulting to either to convey the impression that on an issue involving the welfare of the world, as well as of their own country, their position would be affected by personal pique or petty quarrels. It is true that Senator Taft has said he is "sympathetic" toward arguments against Mr. Truman's proposal to equip our South American neighbors with American arms. But that is a trivial matter compared to the great plan outlined by Secretary Marshall, of course with the approval of the President.

THE reasons for support of this plan seem clear and imperative. They will be more so by the time the special session convenes. It is to be hoped that Senator Taft—like Senator Vandenberg—will give his support. But if he does not, only those who do not know him will believe Senator Taft is animated by a political, personal or unworthy motive. Perhaps, our bipartisan foreign policy will escape the great "danger" ahead as it did the "dangers" that no longer exist. Perhaps it will be possible next year to write again that its health is unimpaired. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The long-standing theory that an effective and lasting peace cannot be attained by hasty means met with a reversal today with Secretary of State Marshall's forthright warning that treaties must soon be framed for Austria and Germany if the Communist steam-roller in eastern Europe is to be halted.

Secretary Marshall, whose patience was sorely tried by the recent Moscow conference, nevertheless had operated on the theory that it was better to slow than to rush into stop-gap emergency agreements that might prove to be worse than none.

Favors Change Of Pace
It is now clear, however, that Gen. Marshall now favors a change of pace in an effort to stem the Communist tide.

His statement about the need for speed came at a crucial moment. The Communist-backed government in Hungary was fast forward relentlessly with the recasting of that nation in a Soviet mold, its leaders seemingly deaf to vehement criticism by the United States and a restrained reproach on the part of Great Britain.

In Bulgaria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania there were steadily-increasing signs that Democratic precepts in those countries also soon might be eliminated.

These individual small nations may not be so important of themselves. But there are definite fears that if the present trend is allowed to continue, Austria and Germany may be unable to hold on to the democracy implanted there.

Face Hard Task
Anglo-American occupational authorities have faced a hard task indeed in their efforts to bring to stature the elementary seeds of democratic government that have been sown.

The denazification program itself has furnished a sort of stumbling-block. Elimination of Nazis has served inevitably to cast an aura of vicarious glory upon their enemies, the Communists. The latter, at least, have overlooked no opportunity to aggrandize themselves. Choosing with utmost care, the Allies placed in official positions Austrians and Germans whose political backgrounds were found to be impeccable. Elections have been most carefully supervised to ensure there was no intimidation at the ballot boxes.

Quick And Easy Turnover
But the example of Hungary has demonstrated clearly how a minor (Continued on Page Seven)

Washington Calling

Soviet May Soon Have Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Within 6 to 18 months our newspapers will blossom with large black headlines on this order:

Soviets say they have atom bomb. That is the growing belief of those whose duty it is to follow the course of atomic development here and abroad. This is the weight of information in confidential files. It is also confirmed by almost everything that happens before the public gaze.

Andre Gromyko's latest statement on atomic control must be taken as a bit of evidence pointing in that direction. There is nothing new in what Gromyko said. He gives every evidence of desiring to filibuster in order to delay a final decision by the United Nations Atomic Energy commission.

Close To Approval
At one point in the year-long debate, Gromyko came close to approving the Acheson-Lilienthal-Baruch proposal for an international inspection authority with final control over atomic energy development. Then, six months later, he seemed to shut the door on the kind of international inspection essential in any real system of control.

This third and latest position is roughly halfway between the other two. It seems to declare for inspection. But when the statement is closely examined, the inspection is seen to be so limited and circumscribed as to be more or less meaningless. The statement is full of loop holes big enough to drop an atom bomb through. Paragraph B of Section 7 says:

"Signatory states to the convention of the prohibition of atomic weapons must have a right to carry on unrestricted scientific research activities in the field of atomic energy directed toward discovery of methods of its use for peaceful purposes."

A fine declaration of noble intention which, in the present condition of the world, no nation would accept. The Gromyko statement cleaves to sovereignty over the atom. The Acheson-Lilienthal-Baruch proposal was a fairly long way toward surrendering national sovereignty in this connection. Many have said hopefully that it represented the beginning of a world state. Or, at any rate, the American plan was the first timber in the foundation of genuine world government.

Newest Tactics
The newest Gromyko tactic brings us nearer a fearful deadline. Members of the U. N. Atomic Energy commission have talked about ending their discussion on September 1. That is not a fixed date, but the feeling is growing that the debate now serves no purpose except delay.

After September 1, there will be an effort to get agreement on a final report by the commission containing recommendation to be submitted to the U. N. Security Council. A majority and a minority report, with the split along the customary line, would seem to be a certainty.

Just Folks

Our flag! A flag of all who seek Justice and freedom for the weak! Flag of the best which men have thought,
No tyrant might shall drag thee down,
No whispering voice stain thy renown.

Flag in the blood of heroes signed,
Banner of hope for all mankind,
Riding the winds on land and sea,
Bright emblem of man's liberty,
No tyrant code, no cunning sly,
Shall ever tear thee from the sky!

Our flag! The flag of all that's best;
Hope of the weary and distressed;
Staffed at all altars where we pray;
Flag of the grounds where children play.
Our flag, and theirs who would be free,
Never shall shame dishonor thee.

Public Wants A "Governor"

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLEDGING ALLEGIANCE TO FLAG

In times of peace most of the men's service clubs have always kept alive some patriotic practice at honoring the flag, the symbol of our republic.

During the war the public schools and P.T.A.'s at their public assemblies and meetings gave the "pledge of allegiance." But soon after V-J Day such patriotic practices were often missing from the P.T.A. meetings and sometimes from school assemblies. I speak from personal observations made in hundreds of places in many states throughout the nation. Though I have not been traveling so much in recent months, I hazard the guess that the flag salute at school is still on the wane.

Salute The Flag
It has always seemed to me that in times of peace it is even more desirable to salute the flag than during times of war. Don't we want our children to associate the symbol of our country with peace rather than war?

A few years after the first World War I often heard fellow speakers (who actually were college or university professors of education) at teachers' conventions poke fun at having school children pledge allegiance to the flag. Often the reason given was that most children didn't (Continued on Page Seven)

SPEECH

Speech is one of the things which divide us from the lower animals. It is a very important accomplishment. Inability to speak is a very serious handicap.

It seems that most all of us talk too much.

Impaired or faulty speech is a handicap too.

Lisping is a fault which should be corrected or prevented in early childhood.

Mother should see that Mary Jane is out of lisping long before she is ready for school.

If mother cannot handle the situation she should get help from the doctor or someone else who understands such things.

Today is Flag Day... pay tribute... tomorrow is Father's Day... be happy.

"PALS"
A man should be more than a Father to his Son,
He should likewise be his pal.
I speak from experience, for we have one
Who's name is Alvin, but we call him Al.

You say start at the cradle when he's a wee tot,
You may say he's too young to understand;
But remember, kindness can never be bought,
He will soon reach out to take you by the hand.

Don't refuse to answer the many questions he will ask,
No doubt you did the same when you were young;
I'll admit there are times when it is quite a task,
The only way to stop him, would be hold his tongue.

That would be cruel you wouldn't think of doing that,
For he's just a chip off the old block;
Day after day, he keeps trying on your hat,
And he even tries to imitate your walk.

Spend much time with him, every day of your life
To teach him the right from the wrong;
Do all you can with aid of your wife
To bring him up healthy and strong.

You should take him to Sunday School when just a small lad,
Where they teach them to be honest and true;
For remember, he wants to be just like his Dad,
And his future depends upon you.

Soon he grows older and starts out to school,
As all normal children have to do;
One thing he will learn is the golden rule,
Do unto others as you'd have them do unto you.

It is then he will start to take an interest in life,
An education will be his one aim;
He will learn much about hardship and strife
As he travels along the pathway to fame.

If he is fortunate and becomes successful in life,
He will thank God for the training he had;
He will search for a girl just like mother for a wife,
And he will always respect his Old Dad.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

I like flowers. I like dogs. I like birds. I like music.

But frankly, I am not particularly fond of poetry.

It always seems to me that most poets are more concerned about meter and rhyme than about thoughts and, furthermore, most of the poets I have met are just a little bit on the nutty side.

I can't wait for Keats or Shelley or Walt Whitman, of course, because I have never met them.

But, from what I have read about them, I doubt whether I would have wanted them as week-end guests in my house, particularly because my wife is very fussy who uses her new powder room—about which I have told you a lot, and about which I have received several hundred letters.

However, I am going to let you see a little poem that my new secretary wrote. (My other one got married, as I told you.)

Her name, if you must know, is Dorothea Baldinette, a name most too long to pronounce, so I call her "Pete" for short.

This poem of hers will never go down in history. You can probably write as good a one, provided you can think as well as she. (She thinks very well, so far, but then you know the proverb about the new broom.)

So, here is her poem. She calls it "What Counts".

It's not the big things in this world,
Although it often seems,
That are the largest beacons,
And shed the brightest beams.

It is the small, unselfish things
That are worth struggling for;
A kindly deed, a friendly smile,
A welcome at the door.

It is not fame or power,
Or riches we possess,
That mends a sorely aching heart,
Or fosters happiness;

For one grows cold with growth of gold,
And, though he's not aware,
His heart once warm, gay and sincere,

Now has but coldness there.
Although one may have a little,
But always shares a part,
That part will bring a prayer
To everybody's heart.

That's all, I think she's got something there.

Don't you? Maybe you'll want to paste it in your scrapbook.

State Police Say:—

So you had the right of way! Many motorists will fight for the right of way regardless of consequences, and of course many of them never live to learn the results of the encounter. If there is a question of an accident, yield the right of way. Being right won't pay the doctor bills if you are hit, and there's little comfort in knowing it was the other fellow's fault.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ONE FOR DEWEY

It is refreshing to know that Governor Dewey of New York recently signed an Act of his own initiative which prohibits strikes of public employees within the State of New York.

Included in the prohibition are school teachers, policemen, firemen and local transportation employees. It includes all employees of surface transportation, the underground and elevated trains.

The basis of this act—the prime cause for its being put on the statute books of the State of New York—is that strikes of any persons within the categories mentioned are strikes against the public, interrupting the proper functioning of government. There are several other categories that might be mentioned and proper legislation enacted by the different States if the Congress of the United States won't do it. There are the employees of the water systems, and those who operate the gas works and the gas lines and the electric power lighting plants, as well as the wires distributing electricity within the State. There is the street cleaning and the disposing of garbage and the like. Employees engaged in all of these activities should be prohibited from striking. There should be ways, of course, open to all employees to ask for and obtain, if deserving, pay adequate for the work performed. The subject of public employees is one that calls for attention, as it involves the public health and safety.

Have No Right To Strike
Strikes by organizations of individuals who enter public employment in any responsible capacity are a part of the government and such workmen have no right to strike against the government. Such a strike is analogous to a mutiny in the armed forces, and punishment for any revolution in the armed forces is death.

Persons who are unwilling to forego the right to strike have no right to enter public employment.

Whatever happens to the Act at present in the making in the Congress of the United States, designed to cure some of our labor troubles—whether the bill is approved or disapproved by the President—when this Act is sent to the President, the Press of the country should tell the people exactly what it contains in a story, without any assertion as to whether this or that is wise or not.

Hints On Etiquette

Be sure you extinguish a cigaret stub when you discard it. A smoldering cigaret stub makes an unpleasant odor, and it might cause a fire.

Good Taste

Question: Should a maid or her employer supply the former's uniforms? (2) Is it proper to deduct from a servant's salary the cost of any dishes she may have accidentally broken?

Answer: In most houses, both uniforms and aprons are supplied by the employer. If you want to kiss your maid goodbye forever, just start charging her for broken china.

Either dismiss her or give her less responsible work if she continues to break your valuables.

Question: How long should guests remain after dinner?

Answer: At informal dinners, guests remain from one and a half to two hours after leaving the table. At formal dinners (which usually begin about eight o'clock) the guests remain until about eleven o'clock.

Question: At what age should a child be taught the proper manner of holding his spoon and fork and discouraged in the baby-fashion grip?

Answer: As soon as his hands are capable, he should be instructed in the proper manner of holding his silver. There is no age limit. The baby grip should be discouraged as early as possible.

Question: (1) When a girl is going to visit a young man's family should she write and ask his mother if it is convenient to come or do so on his invitation? (2) Should I bring her a gift?

Answer: (1) The young man should ask his mother to write to her and extend an invitation. She really should not go on his invitation alone. (2) Either bring a small gift along or send her one after you return home. Suggestions: A bottle of toilet water, two handkerchiefs or a box of candy.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

ABITIOUS
A sophisticated-looking gentleman stopped his car and watched with amusement a little old man serenely sitting on the bank of a little pond with a fishing pole in his hands.

"What are you fishing for, pop?" "Whales," the little old man replied.

"Don't tell me there are whales in that pond," the stranger scoffed.

"Nope," was the reply. "But there ain't nothing else either. Might as well fish for whales."—Ex.

Bipartisan Policy Again In Danger?

WASHINGTON, June 14.—If the bipartisan foreign policy, so essential to the effectiveness of this nation in international affairs, continues healthy, it will be a rather striking refutation of the diagnosis of various journalistic doctors of more or less renown who specialize in the global field. For hardly a week goes by that one or the other of these erudite experts does not burst forth with a solemn warning that the policy of bipartisan cooperation is about to bog down.

FOR example, a short time ago, the reason given was that President Truman and Secretary Marshall had not "consulted" Senator Vandenberg in advance of the announcement of certain State Department policies and also that Secretary Marshall had not been able to establish quite the same kind of "cordiality" in his personal relationships as his predecessor, the exceedingly affable Mr. James F. Byrnes. The unfattering inference was inescapable that unintelligence and ineptitude existed on the one side and a certain smallness, plus a lack of conviction, on the other.

IT is pleasant to note that this theory has now been dropped and the information is now presented that Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg are on terms of "friendly intimacy," conferring informally at frequent intervals in the privacy of each other's homes. This "situation," never well based though its publicity was wide, must have both annoyed and amused the Secretary and the Senator. In any event, that peril to the bipartisan foreign policy appears to have passed. Nothing has been heard of it for two weeks and more.

BUT a new "danger" has arisen. This time it is not the personal cordiality between Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg that threatens collapse. This time it is the personal cordiality between President Truman and Senator Robert Taft. Some days ago Mr. Truman in a public statement assailed Mr. Taft's domestic economic policies and Senator Taft made a sharp reply, in which he asserted the President had misquoted him. Certainly this shows a lack of "personal cordiality" between the two men, but what has that to do with the bipartisan foreign policy? We are told that it makes very much less probable Senator Taft's support of the new Marshall co-ordinated plan for European reconstruction—a plan so big and broad as probably to involve grants of something like five billions a year. This plan, of course, has to be ratified by Congress, and a special session in the fall is advocated for that purpose. In foreign affairs, up to this time, Senator Taft has more or less accepted Senator Vandenberg's leadership and Senator Vandenberg, in turn, has co-operated with Senator Taft in domestic policies.

NOW, it is held, President Truman has committed a grave blunder in spoiling a "cordial personal relationship" with Mr. Taft, who, because of the attack, is expected to oppose the Marshall plan, thus breaking up the bipartisan co-operation on international matters at the moment when it is most vital. This may turn out to be true, but there are one or two things that should qualify its too ready acceptance. In the first place, the "cordial personal relationship" between Mr. Truman and Mr. Taft was not spoiled by the Truman attack because no "cordial personal relationship" existed to spoil.

THE Truman attack of last week was not the first time he has been critical of Senator Taft, and the Taft reply was not the first in which the Senator has been critical of Mr. Truman. Perhaps, Senator Taft will not support the Marshall plan for co-ordinated reconstruction next fall. But his opposition will not be because of personal hostility to Mr. Truman. To assume that, is to assume that Senator Taft is a small man who shifts his convictions on the gravest issues because of personal dislikes or prejudice. That is not the kind of man Senator Taft is. And that is not the kind of man Senator Vandenberg is.

IT IS not far from insulting to either to convey the impression that an issue involving the welfare of the world, as well as of their own country, their position would be affected by personal pique or petty quarrels. It is true that Senator Taft has said he is "sympathetic" toward arguments against Mr. Truman's proposal to equip our Scout American neighbors with American arms. But that is a trivial matter compared to the great plan outlined by Secretary Marshall, of course with the approval of the President.

THE reasons for support of this plan seem clear and imperative. They will be more so by the time the special session convenes. It is to be hoped that Senator Taft—like Senator Vandenberg—will give his support. But if he does not, only those who do not know him will believe Senator Taft is animated by a political, personal or unworthy motive. Perhaps, our bipartisan foreign policy will escape the great "danger" ahead as it did the "dangers" that no longer exist. Perhaps it will be possible next year to write again that its health is unimpaired.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

The long-standing theory that an effective and lasting peace cannot be attained by hasty means met with a reversal today with Secretary of State Marshall's forthright warning that treaties must soon be framed for Austria and Germany if the Communist steam-roller in eastern Europe is to be halted.

Secretary Marshall, whose patience was sorely tried by dilatory Soviet tactics at the recent Moscow conference, nevertheless had operated on the theory that it was better to slow than to rush in stop-gap emergency agreements that might prove to be worse than none.

Favors Change Of Pace
It is now clear, however, that Gen. Marshall now favors a change of pace in an effort to stem the Communist tide.

His statement about the need for speed came at a crucial moment. The Communist-backed government in Hungary went forward relentlessly with the re-arming of that nation in a Soviet mold, its leaders seemingly deaf to vehement criticism by the United States and a re-stated reproach on the part of Great Britain.

In Bulgaria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania there were steadily-increasing signs that Democracy precepts in those countries also soon might be eliminated.

These individual small nations may not be so important of themselves. But there are definite fears that if the present trend is allowed to continue, Austria and Germany may be unable to hold on to the democracy implanted there.

Face Hard Task
Anglo-American occupational authorities have faced a hard task indeed in their efforts to bring to stature the elementary seeds of democratic government that have been sown.

The denazification program itself has furnished a sort of stumbling-block. Elimination of Nazis has served inevitably to cast an aura of vicarious glory upon their enemies, the Communists. The latter, of course, have overlooked no opportunity to aggrandize themselves. Choosing with utmost care, the Allies placed in official positions Austrians and Germans whose political backgrounds were found to be impeccable. Elections have been most carefully supervised to ensure there was no intimidation at the ballot boxes.

Quick And Easy Turnover
But the example of Hungary has demonstrated clearly how a minor (Continued on Page Seven)

know what they were saying any-way. How absurd! Why has not the school taught children the meaning of the flag and the pledge of it?

Explaining The Salute

I have never heard such teaching in any school nor read it in a school text book. I was by those silly re-marks by some of my fellow "edu-cators" concerning the flag salute, I resolved that when the oppor-tunity came, to explain in some publication for children the mean-ing of the pledge to the flag. That opportunity came at last when I founded and began editing about a year ago the kind of magazine for children I have long dreamed of.

In the current issue of that pub-lication appears a picture of the flag in color. Beneath it appears the following:

The Pledge Of Allegiance
I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands; one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

What This Pledge Means
I pledge—I promise—solemnly, earnestly, with all my heart, I pledge allegiance—I promise with all my heart to be loyal, faithful, obedient to the flag of the United States of America. I make this promise because this flag stands for our United States of America, our Republic, our Country, whose gov-ernment is managed by representa-tives, persons elected by the people.

One Nation indivisible—one coun-try which cannot be divided. With liberty and justice for all—a coun-try in which everybody may enjoy freedom, fairness, justice (what is right).

Persons who are not scouts or are not in uniform, as of the armed forces, hold the right hand over the heart. All face the flag and stand still as they give the Pledge of Allegiance.

ity rule can be made effective and how governments entirely satisfac-tory to the victorious western Allies can be turned out of office with ap-parently little effort.

It is obvious that Secretary Mar-shall has fears of such an eventual-ity occurring in Germany or Aus-tria or both—a possibility that would seem to be enhanced by the rapid dismantlement of the United States army in Europe.

In all likelihood, fast action on the formulation of peace treaties would be more than welcome to the rank and file of the German and Austrian population, and in Sec. Marshall's belief might prove the turning point of an international situation which at the present mo-ment is a worrying and troublesome one.

common place. They have come to be accepted as part of the scenery of the United Nations. But this dis-appointment cannot be ignored.

It will bring us up against the necessity of a decision here at home. The road will fork. In one direction we can get agreement merely for the sake of agreement more or less on Russian terms.

There will be many to plead that some kind of agreement is better than no agreement. They will argue that the signpost on the other road, points to an atomic armaments race. But an agreement that includes the escape clauses of sovereignty will be far worse than no agreement. It will give a wholly false sense of security. At least with disagreement we shall know the worst. We shall know that we must reshape our policy, and quickly.

Here in Washington there is a mounting impatience with the pro-longed delays in the U. N. Atomic commission. Sen. Brien McMahon, author of the bill placing control over our own atomic development in a U. S. atomic energy commis-sion, has insisted from the start that filibustering tactics should not be permitted to delay a decision.

There are those who put Grom-yko's latest move down to mere strategy, looking to indefinite post-ponement. These observers doubt that the Soviets have advanced so far toward controlled atomic fis-sion that they are waiting for the day when they can proclaim that fact to the world. But sooner or later the day will come, no matter what happens around the debating table at Lake Success.

RAT EXPERIMENT

ST. HELENS, Ore.—(INS)—It shouldn't happen to a rat but the health classes of the sixth and eighth grades hope it will be a les-son to office workers who grab a cooke and sandwich for lunch. The health students have in captivity two rats the same age. One rat gets a diet of nothing but soft drinks and jelly sandwiches. He weighs but 75 gram and has jangled nerves. Rat No. 2, who wolfs whole wheat bread, cabbage and apple is overflowing with vitamins, weighs 183 grams and possesses a sunny disposition.

BE A GOOD PATTERN for YOUR CHURCH

BRETHREN IN CHRIST MEMBER, JESS LASTORIA

When you enter the pulpit make no apologies.

If you have a message from God, deliver it, or hold your peace and have a Quaker-Meeting.

Do not waste time by long prefaces, but say good things from the start; and do not keep on talking after you are done. Better leave the people longing than loathing.

Leave self out of the pulpit, and take Christ in.

Do not preach old sermons without warming them over, and never stop growing.

Do not harp too much on one string, but give the great VARIETY of the Bible.

Take care of your character and let God take of your reputa-tion.

Have no PETTED or ne-glected classes.

Do not abuse people for not liking you; perhaps you like yourself too well.

You are not a preacher, no matter whose hands have been laid upon you unless you know the truth, and are anointed by the Holy Spirit.

Do not scold; be a friend of sinners, but not of sin.

Always preach as well as you can, but do your best for them who come on rainy days; Christ preached mar-velously to one woman at the well and to one Rabbi at night.

Do not repeat; if you said plainly before, say something else next.

Leave out big WORDS, and do not expect your hearers to bring their dictionaries to church.

CULTIVATE NATURAL-NESS.

Chew your food but not your words.

Do not dwell on a inno-ence, nor drop your voice near the end of a sentence.

Do not tire yourself nor oth-ers out; when weariness be-gins devotion ends.

Do not begin too low and slow; keep your lungs full.

Do not miss all the good places to stop; stop at a clim-max.

Do not preach with a big stick in your hand, but KEEP

SWEET, and HOLD UP the CROSS.

Use illustrations, but pack your sermons so as to have something to illustrate.

Be clear; we can see to the bottom of Lake George, but we do not think a mud pud-dle deep because we can not see the bottom.

Make your sermons propor-tionate; if it is narrow and shallow, make it short; if it is wide and deep make it longer.

I was told of a man who might have been a good preacher but for two faults; he had no delivery, and noth-ing to deliver.

Remember that you preach to save, rather than to enter-tain.

PREACH STRAIGHT, and LIVE STRAIGHT; as a DI-VINE EPISTLE; you are ORDERED TO BE A PAT-TERN.

Preach publicly and from house to house; a SYMPA-THETIC HOUSE-GOING-PREACHER MAKES A CHURCH-GOING PEOPLE.

BE SURE TO PLEASE GOD, EVEN IF NO FRIEND-LY FACES SMILE UPON YOU.

Make few promises.

Keep out of debt.

Live a simple life.

SET UP A HIGH STAND-ARD for the Church, and SHOW them how to live it; your actions will be your loudest preaching.

After a house is solemnly dedicated to the worship of God, let there be no room for the tables of the money changers, or for giddy Eccelesi-astics who sit down to eat and rise to play, cultivating the social element in the realm of worldliness.

Beware of the amusement heresy, and cook stove apos-tasy.

The Cross and not the FID-DLE is the central attraction for the true CHURCH; feed the sheep, instead of trying to AMUSE THE GOATS.

The less KNOWLEDGE and PIETY a Church has, the more CLUBS, SOCIETIES, OYSTERS, ICE CREAM and fun it takes to ruin it, and the FASTER IT RUNS AWAY FROM GOD.—Selected.

Asks New Trial
After Conviction

Leonard D'Antonio Asks
New Trial In Conviction
On Armed Robbery
Charge

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

In a motion filed with the court on Friday, Leonard D'Antonio asks for a new trial, following his conviction of armed robbery. With Samuel Sams he was convicted on Wednesday of robbing the store of Rose Wasilewski of Hamilton street, at the point of a gun.

Sams has not yet filed a motion for a new trial, although he has the right. He pleaded to six other counts of burglary. Both of the men are at liberty on bail.

There are several steps yet possible in D'Antonio's case. If the motion for a new trial was granted he would be heard again in the September term of criminal court. If it is refused, the way would be open to an appeal to the upper courts of the state.

The motion for a new trial contains the usual grounds found in such appeals, "the verdict was against the weight of the evidence, the court erred in its charge, the court erred in permitting certain testimony" etc.

SENTENCES HANDED DOWN

On Friday morning Judge John G. Lamore handed down sentences to men on four men who had pleaded to criminal violations. Napoleon Clements was fined $1 and costs and sentenced to not less than 1½ nor more than two years in the Western State Penitentiary on a charge of burglary. Charles Watkins, also up for burglary drew two to four years in the penitentiary and was fined $1 and costs. John Sweeney was fined $100 and costs, and thirty days in jail for driving while intoxicated, out in three days if the fine and costs are paid. Carl J. Sinkule was fined $100 and costs and placed upon probation for one year upon a morals charge. Sentence was suspended upon William Robert Taylor upon a morals charge. He was remanded back to the jail to await a mental health examination.

Legislature Gives Salary Boost To Judges In State

HARRISBURG, June 14.—(INS)—Pay boosts between 17 and 20 per cent for Pennsylvania judges had the approval today of the General Assembly.

Still wrangling over modest increases for the state's 60,000 teachers, the house and senate showed little hesitancy in approving generous raises for jurists.

Senate-approved legislation to hike salaries roared through the house by a 157-19 majority and received quick concurrence in the upper chamber to amendments by the lower chamber.

Sponsored by Sen. John M. Walker (R) Allegheny, a lawyer, the bill had been amended to grant 20 per cent boosts to associate lay judges.

Rev. J. B. Porter Speaks Sunday

Central Christian Church
Week's Anniversary
Services Will Be Concluded

Climaxing their golden anniversary celebration, members of the Central Christian church, East Long at Pennsylvania avenues, will hear another of their former pastors Sunday morning and evening in the South Side church.

Rev. Jesse B. Porter, pastor of the Church of Christ, Ridgway, Pa., who served the local church from 1926 to 1931, will be heard at 10:45 a. m. and again at 7:45 p. m.

Special music during the morning service will be presented by James Frost and the choir, when they will be heard singing "The Lord's Prayer" and later in the program, "Be Joyful in the Lord."

Rev. Porter will address the morning congregation on the subject, "What Is Right with the Church?" His sermon will be followed by the observance of the Lord's Supper.

The pastor, Rev. James N. Rainey, will again be in charge of the evening service and will lead the opening portion of the program. The choir has chosen to sing "The Challenge". The men's chorus will be heard in a special number entitled "When Jesus Comes Into Your Heart."

"Who Is on the Lord's Side" will be the subject of the address of the evening by Rev. Porter.

On Friday evening a beneficial service of worship was held in the church, when brotherhood night was observed. Visiting pastors assisted in the service. Rev. A. Homer Jordan, of Ellwood City, conducted the devotion.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. E. C. Rowand, Jr., pastor of the Central Christian church of Sharon, Pa. His theme was entitled "Looking Ahead as a Brotherhood."

The week-long anniversary opened in the church last Sunday, with Rev. Thomas B. Shearer of Kingston, Pa., as the special speaker morning and evening. On Wednesday night the church fellowship dinner took place, with the services continuing throughout Thursday and Friday evenings.

Rev. James N. Rainey, present minister of the church, came to this city in 1943 to assume his duties here and has carried on a most successful ministry in the church.

Seek To Iron Out Teachers Salary Bill Differences

State Measure Headed For House
Conference Committee For Adjustment

HARRISBURG, June 14.—(INS)—The legislative wrangle embracing teachers salary increases was headed today for a conference committee in the House to iron out differences over Senate-inserted amendments.

The bill was passed by a vote of 43-4 with two senators, both teachers, recorded only as present.

Under the senate version, holders of standard certificates in second, third and fourth class districts will start at $1950 a year and receive five annual increments of $150 each. Teachers with bachelor's degrees would begin at $2000 a year and receive eight annual increments of $150 each while teachers having master's degrees would start at $2,200 and earn the same number of increments.

In Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, standard certificate holders would get $2,175 a year to start and receive five annual increments of $200 each. Teachers with bachelor's degrees would begin at $2,200 and be eligible for eight yearly increments of $200 each and instructors with master's degrees would start at $2,400 a year and receive the same number of increments.

Senate Version
The senate version of base salaries was the same as proposed in the bill when it was passed by the house but amendments stripped the measure of "promotional" increases from the system of increments.

Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent attacked the bill and claimed it was not a fulfillment of the Republican party's campaign pledge.

"This is a satisfactory answer to the Republican pledge," replied Sen. George N. Wade (R) Cumberland. "It is a satisfactory and four square answer to the problem."

Voting against the bill were Dent and Allegheny Democratic Senators Joseph M. Barr, Elmer J. Holland and William S. Bahuser. Recorded as present were Republican Senators Fraser P. Donlon, Lackawanna and Fred P. Hare, Jr., of Somerset.

Legislature Delays Adjournment Plan

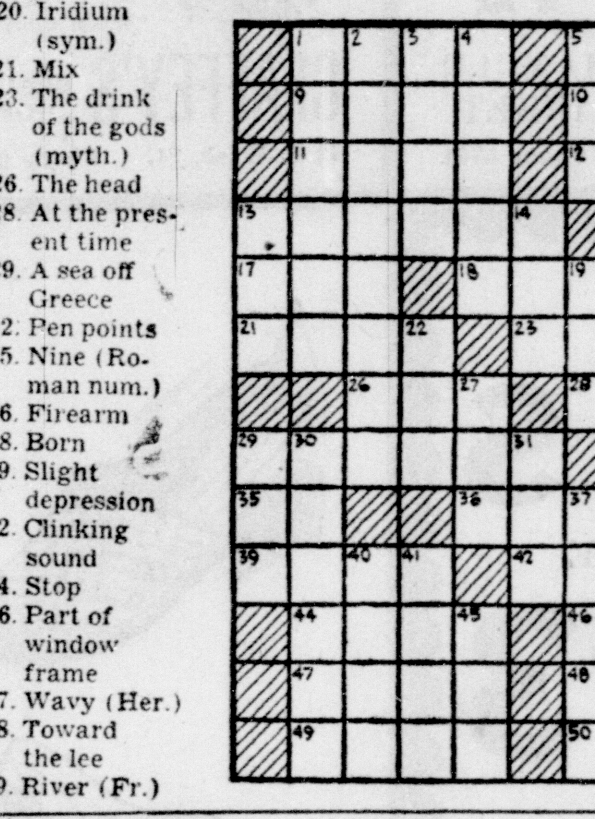

HARRISBURG, June 14.—(INS)—The legislature today rolled final adjournment back to Monday after being snagged on problems involving local revenues and teachers' pay raises.

The General Assembly had hoped to adjourn sine die today at 6 p. m. The key measure to grant most local governments vast new tax sources passed the Senate with amendments objectionable to the lower chamber and headed straight for a conference committee.

The dispute between the two houses stemmed from the Senate's discard of a provision which would have allowed Pennsylvania's 61 first class townships to tap new revenue sources.

TEMPERATURES KEEP RISING, BUT FRESH FOOD IS DELIVERED

Up, up, up goes the temperature,—85—90—92. Life in the congested metropolitan areas is not too comfortable, but the residents there get their eggs, and butter, milk and vegetables, fresh from the farms.

Modern motor trucks speed the foodstuffs from the farms and dairies into the cities and the metropolitan resident gets them just as fresh as though he lived in a village in the agricultural area.

Ship by Truck. It's the modern way of transportation, the efficient way, the safe way.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Because the Johnson-Bronze Company and the Employees Association believe they have a duty beyond manufacturing fine bushings and bearings. New Castle now has a modern baseball field. It is a grand gesture of civic consciousness.

TEMPIS FUGIT— TIME'S A-WASTIN'

We could go on and quote a few other axioms but what we are getting at is that July 31 is sneaking up fast. And of course you realize that your car has to be inspected by then.

There's bound to be a rush at the last minute and we'll try to take care of that, but wouldn't it be much easier on your peace of mind to have your car inspected before the rush starts?

Our expert mechanics are waiting for your car. When we put a sticker upon your car, it's a guarantee that the work has been done well. Boasting? Not a bit, just stating a fact.

Food Increase Asked To Block Reds In Germany

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(INS)—War department fears of a snow-balling communistic trend in the United States zone of Germany were evident today in official pressure for increased food shipments to the area.

At the same time, it was revealed that the way was cleared for the first postwar use of American capital in commercial dealings in Germany.

Both developments were disclosed by Assistant Secretary of War H. C. Petersen in a news conference on his just-completed tour of the American and British zone.

Petersen declared that if America's "political objectives" are to be attained in Germany, the United States must see that the food allowance is raised to the projected minimum of 1,550 calories per day per person.

He reported that communism has made no inroads in the U. S. zone as yet. But, he added:

"We cannot hope that this success will be continued unless the present food situation is improved."

Petersen indicated that he considered American aid to Germany in the form of food to be the only satisfactory means of countering pressure being exerted on the underfed German people by a powerful Russian-sponsored communist propaganda machine.

He characterized the present food situation in Germany as "deplorable". And pointed out that the United States has failed in its aim, which was to see that the 1,550-calorie minimum was achieved.

Friday, Thirteenth Club Has Gathering

Dinner Meeting Of Past Commanders Of Veterans Organizations Well Attended

Friday evening's dinner meeting of the Friday, the Thirteenth club, proved the usual successful event, in spite of the alleged bad prospects of the day. The event took place at the summer cottage of R. L. Boyd, in Chapin road.

Jack Williams was chairman for this meeting, the only one to be held in 1947. Tom Edmunds was named chairman for the first meeting in 1948, which will take place in February.

I. J. Nealon and Francis X. Keating, of the Deshon U. S. Veterans Administration at Butler, and W. M. Jones, of the Veterans Administration office here were special guests.

Pep singing, those rollicking songs of 1917 and 18 were led by Ivor V. Davis, in his customary style, and Dr. R. C. Lutz added a nice touch of humor.

Joe Walzer, past commander of Post 315 V. F. W., was initiated as a new member of the group.

Capt. Bill Ice Here Before Next Flight To Tokyo

Capt. Bill Ice, of Sherman Oaks, Calif., is in New Castle visiting for a short time in the home of Mrs. Howard Quest, 505 Wildwood avenue, before his next Los Angeles to Tokyo flight for the Flying Tiger air freight line.

As pilot of a C-54 doing army contract hauling, Capt. Ice makes the 17,700 miles over in back usually in 88 hours flying time. The round-trip flight takes 12 days, he says. He will leave here Monday for Los Angeles to check out on his next freight haul across the Pacific and back.

Two weeks ago in Los Angeles, Capt. and Mrs. Ice attended the New Castle Ramblers annual reunion picnic. There were 250 former New Castle residents present and among them Bill met up with six of his former students he had taught to fly at the airport here.

Counties To Fix Employees' Salaries

HARRISBURG, June 14.—(INS)—The House today amended and placed in line for passage Monday Senate-approved legislation to permit most counties to fix salaries of their employees.

One bill proposed county salary boards to establish pay rates now fixed by the legislature of officeholders in all except Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and third class counties. Prior to amendment, Philadelphia was the only exemption proposed.

A companion measure would abolish existing salary board in third class counties. Both bills were sponsored by Sen. George B. Stevens, (R) Clinton.

Next meeting will take the form of a Gideon picnic at Ellwood City, on July 11.

At the auxiliary meeting, Mrs. Rose Bender presided. Mrs. Virginia Allen was secretary pro-tem. Roll call was answered with a verse of scripture. It was planned to continue placing Bibles in beauty shops and doctors' offices.

Quadruplets Are Born In Montana

MILES CITY, Mont., June 14.—(INS)—Quadruplets, three girls and a boy, were born at six a. m. today to Mrs. Edward Randash of Baker, Mont. in Holy Rosary hospital at Miles City.

Dr. Elma Howard, attending physician, said the babies and the 34-year-old mother "are doing nicely."

The quadruplets were being kept in an incubator. Dr. Howard said pre-birth X-rays had indicated the Randashes could expect triplets, but the fourth child "surprised even me."

Randash, a garage operator at Baker, and his wife have one other child, five years old.

Postpone Flaherty Field Dedication, Tourney Opening Till Next Week

Incessant Rain Spoils Opening Friday Evening

Games Today And Sunday Called Off By Wet Grounds, Fans Disappointed

Jupiter Pluvius teamed up with "Friday the 13th" to spoil a grand party Friday evening at P. J. Flaherty field, the dedication of the beautiful new ball park, and the start of the National Baseball Congress District tourney, being washed completely out by incessant rain.

Ralph H. Gardner, deputy NBC commissioner, announced today that the games carried for today, and Sunday have been postponed by wet grounds. Fans are asked to watch Monday's paper for announcement as to the start of the tourney and the dedication.

Tropea Sends Hess To Baltimore Club

Columbus Shortstop Moving To International League For Tryout

Jimmy Tropea, manager of the Columbus club baseball of the City league, may be shortchanging his own team, but nevertheless he has sent Dale Hess, young York, Pa. shortstop, to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league for a tryout.

Tropea contacted his friend, Tommy Thomas, manager at Baltimore, and Thomas asked that Hess, who has been playing with the Columbus club, be sent to Baltimore at once. Hess is a crackerjack shortstop and may make the grade in organized baseball. Tropea, veteran former Hillsville star, was an outfielder with the Baltimore club last year.

Cardinals Start Climbing Upward In Pennant Fight

Cards Get Good Pitching By Munger To Shutout Dodgers, Braves Trim Bucs

NEW YORK, June 14.—National league teams were more than a little disturbed at the faint rumbles emerging ominously from the dark cellar of the senior loop. The St. Louis Cardinals have freed themselves from the musty confines, and on the strength of George Munger's superb three-hit 3 to 0 shutout of the Brooklyn Dodgers they may be making the bid for the top which so many have awaited and expected.

The strong-armed Munger with the red fringe on top, now leads the Card hurlers with a five-and-one record. Munger can now team with Harry (the Cat) Brecheen to form a right-lefty duo which soon may be harmonizing to many a Cardinal victory.

If Eddie Dyer can straighten out the rest of his pitching staff—fellow like slender Howie Pollet and little Murray Dickson—the Missouri Redbirds may soon be threatening the leaders.

Right now the Cardinals are a full game out of the cellar and only a game and a half out of fifth place.

Coopers Rejoined
The Boston Braves and the New York Giants, two of the top teams in the National league, engineered a trade yesterday which possibly may have pertinent bearing on the final standings. Mort Cooper went to the Giants and Bill Vosselle and cash went to the Braves.

Neither pitcher has a good record to offer this season, but it is worth noting that the deal joins the famous brother battery of Walker and Morton Cooper, and that the temperamental Vosselle is in the capable hands of that shrewd handler of pitchers, wily Billy Southworth.

Barrett Tames Bucs
Red Barrett, one of Southworth's solved "problem children", continued his fine pitching for the Boston Braves by chucking a six-hitter at the Pittsburgh Pirates for a 6 to 2 win. It was the 14th loss in 17 starts for the befuddled Buccaneers.

In the only other National league game—New York and Cincinnati—Cubs nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 3, to stay right up there with the league-leading New York Giants.

The New York Yankees flubbed a chance to gain on the pace-setting Detroit Tigers, who were rained out at Washington, by dropping a 10-inning battle with the tail-end St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3.

The Boston Red Sox played their first night game under the newly installed lights at Fenway Park and defeated the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3.

Cleveland, behind rapid Robert Feller and the home runs of Joe Gordon and Ken Keltner, edged the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 4. Feller fanned 12 batters to bring his season's strikeout total to 87 and to bring his season's record to eight wins and five losses.

National Open Ending Today

Dick Metz And Chick Harbert Top Golfers As Final 36 Holes Begin At St. Louis

By CHARLES EINHSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14.—The national open smashed to its crescendo today with a pair of bright-eyed upstarts, Dick Metz and Chick Harbert, a stroke atop 73 fellow golfers who had 36-hole scores of 151 or better.

On the dramatic agenda were 36 final holes of medal play, succeeding two wild days of separating the bad from the worst and designed to produce the grand champion of the links.

Tough Course
How the nasty St. Louis Country club golf course felt about that was a matter for conjecture. But if some of the manic-depressive jobs authored during the first and second rounds could be taken at cost, the boys were in for a grim time.

Nobody was too happy about the prospect; not even Metz and Harbert, both three under par at 139; deep-eyed Lew Worsham, at 140; or low amateur Bud Ward, Giant Jim Ferrier and the thinnish Henry Ransom, the other par-solvers, all at 141.

Anybody's Tourney
As a matter of fact, today's doings might be no more than penultimate in nature, since four other determinists could be found just to the rear at par, 142, and since the history of the national open is one of garish playoffs.

Should any two or more gents forge or stumble into the same lowest score today, there'll be 18 holes to settle the issue tomorrow. Same time, same place.

The quartet of 142 was Harry Todd, Bobby Locke, Johnny Palmer and Sam Snead.

Stanley Pitches Bessemer To Win

Tosses Three-Hitter To Whip Castletown, 5-2, In Only Game Friday Night

CASTLEWOOD, June 14.—Bessemer and Castletown were the only county league teams to ignore the weeping skies last night, finishing a seven-inning game here with the Cementers ahead, 5-2.

Glenn "Steamer" Stanley returned to action for Manager Martin and tossed a craftsmanlike three-hitter, whiffing six and issuing only one free pass. After giving the Castles two runs in the opening frame the Cementer flinger settled down to hurl shutout ball for six innings.

The Cree brothers, Dean and Don, divided the mound chore for the Castles, the former being derided in the third.

The win enabled the Martin men to move into a tie for second place in the loop with the Hillsville club.

North County To Have Loop Umps

The North County baseball league has made arrangements to have the Lawrence County Umpires association members handle their ball games for the remainder of the season. Announcement to this effect was made by President Carmen DeLeone.

The umpires are reminded that Volant and New Wilmington do not play Sunday ball and whenever scheduled for Sunday will play their games on Monday.

St. Marys Takes Over Golf Lead

Defeat St. Pauls, 10 To 2; Stan Bukowski Shoots Sensational 32 Card

St. Mary's, the defending champions in the Church golf league, has taken over first place in the loop as a result of the thumping given the St. Paul's team, 10 to 2, Thursday at the Castle Hills course.

Stan Bukowski, with a sensational three under par on the front nine, was the medalist for the Thursday matches, with Bob Palmer having a 34 card for runnerup. Bukowski was long off the tees and deadly with his irons and putter as he shattered par by three strokes. Other low cards were: Ezzy Palmer, 38; Ted Bukowski, 39; Jimmy Dart, 39; Ange Cimini, 37; Ted Lach, 39, the latter two being back nine scores.

Standing of the league at the moment: St. Mary's 47; St. Paul's, 43; First Baptists, 40 1/2; First U. P., 34 1/2; Epworth - Methodists, 30 1/2; First Christians, 30; Second U. P., 21 1/2; First Presbyterians, 20; Highland-Harbor, 9.

Kentucky Derby Promoter Is Ill

CHICAGO, June 14.—(INS)—Col. Matt J. Winn, 86-year-old Kentucky Derby promoter, was reported to be "resting comfortably" today in a Chicago hospital where he was suffering from cold and fever.

The colorful racing figure was removed from his Chicago hotel residence to St. Luke's hospital at the direction of his personal physician, Dr. Thomas J. Coogan.

Hospital attendants said it was too early to diagnose the case accurately, but claimed that Winn might be suffering from "possible early pneumonia."

TONY PELLONE BEATS FUSARI

Experience, Sharper Punching Enables Him To Win Split Decision

NEW YORK, June 14.—(INS)—Tony Pellone, the cocky, aggressive New York welterweight, who snapped Charley Fusari's winning streak, today emerged as a rugged challenger for the welterweight crown held by Ray Robinson.

Pellone's experience and sharper punching earned him the split decision over the Irvington, N. J., youngster who had knocked out 34 opponents. Pellone has been associated unfavorably with the split decision. Last Nov. 1 he was awarded a victory over tough Johnny Greco of Canada. A chorus of boos and a demonstration followed the verdict.

Verdict Popular
But last night, although he again won by a split decision, it was a popular verdict. He baffled the hard-punching Fusari with his crudely efficient weaving style and his sharp, stinging lefts.

Ray Robinson has had trouble recently, in regaining his brilliant counter-punch style, and it is rumored that he has experienced trouble keeping within the 147-pound welterweight limit.

If Ray is forced to abdicate, Pellone might well be the next wearer of the purple. He has the style, the punch and the stamina.

Last Night's Fights

Worcester, Mass.—Bobby Pryor, 150, Springfield, Mo. Eddie Letourneau, 155, Sanford, Me., second (8).
Lynn, Mass.—Jack (Spider) Armstrong, 132½, Toronto, decided Al Smith, 131½, Boston (10).

At Waynesburg, Pa.—Marion Klingensmith, 149, Brownsville, Pa., knocked out Whitey Rhon, 150, Canton, O., in second round (10).

Perfect rubies are much rarer than good diamonds.

New Wilmington High Athletes Given Awards

NEW WILMINGTON, June 14.—Fourteen former high school basketball stars have been given sweaters and letters for their work on the floor team, according to Walter Whitman, supervising principal.

A number of the awards date back to the season of 1944. This was due to the inability of the school to secure the sweaters of the proper material.

Two McKeesport Men Sentenced For Raping Woman

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—(INS)—Two McKeesport men today began serving sentences of six months to two years in the county jail on charges of kidnapping and raping a Glassport woman.

The two sentenced yesterday by Judge Henry Ellenbogen were Luther A. Myers, 20, and Leonard M. Goldberg, 22.

A third man, George P. Hanks, 20, of Glassport, was sentenced last August to a two-to-five-year term for a part in the same crime. The trio was accused for forcing the woman, whose soldier husband was in Germany, into a car, driving into the country, and raping her. The men denied force was used.

Pirates Ship Behrman Back

Pittsburgh Ball Club Gets $50,000 Refund On Hank Behrman, Righthander

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—(INS)—Hank Behrman, right-handed pitcher obtained in a 5-for-1 deal from Brooklyn last month, today was sent back to the Dodgers by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Under terms of the deal which brought Kirby Higbe, Cal McLish, Dixie Howell and Gene Mauch to the Bucs in exchange for Al Gionfriddo and cash, Behrman could be returned if his showing was unsatisfactory. The Dodgers were to return $50,000 to the Pirates in that event.

Behrman pitcher in 24-3 innings with the Pirates, gave up 27 earned runs and had a record of no wins and two losses.

BLOOD DONOR HOBBY

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Mrs. Emma Conrad, 58-year-old St. Louis grandmother, has a hobby. It is giving blood transfusions. She has been doing that for 19 years. She has given blood 99 times, and hopes to run the number to 100 soon. Her doctor, however, has told her to delay realization of her ambition. Mrs. Conrad said she has not given up her hobby. She explained: "I've got plenty of red corpuscles, but I'm just a little low on iron." Mrs. Conrad is vice-president of the Greater St. Louis Blood Donors' Society.

HOLLYWOOD, June 14.—(INS)—Tyrone Power's love scenes with little Coleen Gray, his new leading lady, in "Nightmare Alley," have been postponed—and for a very good reason too.

Susan, Coleen's year-old daughter, has come down with whooping cough. While adults usually are not as likely to contract the disease as children, 20th Century-Fox executives were not taking any chances with a $2,500,000 production.

They told Director Edmund Goulding to re-arrange his shooting schedule so Ty and Coleen wouldn't have too much contact for the time being.

The Columbia bosses seem to be determined that Ginger Rogers will glitter aplenty for her wedding scene in "It Had To Be You," to be shot Monday.

They tried to rent the famous Hope diamond, but were turned down. Now your reported understands they've dug up a 25 karat ring and some other diamonds, valued in excess of $100,000.

Beverly Tyler, M-G-M's blooming young star, can hardly wait for her 20th birthday, July 6. She's going to sing with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra on a coast-to-coast network.

Beverly is the singing sensation from Scranton, Pa., who was signed when she was 14 and then groomed for four years before she got her big chance in "The Green Years."

GOOD POULTRY RANGES HELP CURB PARASITES

Good poultry pastures, more than any other factor, have helped reduce the problem of internal parasites in poultry, especially with roundworms and tapeworms.

Ladino clover, gaining in popularity as an excellent poultry pasture, affords nutritious feed and forms a dense mat which serves to screen the chickens from disease organisms on or in the soil.

On bare ground, the birds come in contact with snails, earthworms, and the like, which are intermediate hosts of some tapeworms, and they may also pick up newly hatched roundworms.

The annual consumption of oil in the United States is more than 300 gallons per capita.

Henry's Thoughts Wander To Wales

It isn't that Henry T. Jones, Sealer of Weights and Measures doesn't like New Castle—he does—but this week he would like to be in Llangollen, Wales. The reason is, the international eisteddfod is being held in that odd sounding city, and Mr. Jones is an international vice president of the association putting it on.

Choruses and soloists from half a dozen nations are competing and it is probably a grand time for music lovers. But instead of being there in his official capacity, Mr. Jones is in New Castle, examining weights and measures.
